

Television programming is fine. That's what v-chips are for. Personally, I don't think any censoring should be done even to public television. Use ratings accordingly and allow PARENTS to enable their v-chips and ensure responsible family viewing. It's the parents job, not the government.